Instructions for Completing Civil Cover Sheet

Rules of Court require that a Civil Cover Sheet be attached to any document commencing an action (whether the action is commenced by Complaint, Writ of Summons, Notice of Appeal, or by Petition). The information requested is necessary to allow the Court to properly monitor, control and dispose cases filed. A copy of the Civil Cover Sheet must be attached to service copies of the document commencing an action. The attorney or non-represented party filing a case shall complete the form as follows:

A. Parties

i. Plaintiffs/Defendants

Enter names (last, first, middle initial) of plaintiff, petitioner or appellant ("plaintiff") and defendant. If the plaintiff or defendant is a government agency or corporation, use the full name of the agency or corporation. In the event there are more than three plaintiffs and/or three defendants, list the additional parties on the Supplemental Parties Form. Husband and wife are to be listed as separate parties.

ii. Parties' Addresses

Enter the address of the parties at the time of filing of the action. If any party is a corporation, enter the address of the registered office of the corporation.

iii. Number of Plaintiffs/Defendants:

Indicate the total number of plaintiffs and total number of defendants in the action.

B. Commencement Type:

Indicate type of document filed to commence the action.

C. Amount in Controversy:

Check the appropriate box.

D. Court Program:

Check the appropriate box.

E. Case Types:

Insert the case number and type of action by consulting the list set forth hereunder. To perfect a jury trial, the appropriate fees must be paid as provided by rules of court.

COMPLAINT – CIVIL ACTION (PRODUCTS LIABILITY)

INTRODUCTION

1. On June 14, 2017, seventy-two (72) people were senselessly killed when a fire ripped through Grenfell Tower, a high rise apartment building in West London.
2. The fire, which started in a refrigerator, migrated through Flat 16 in the Grenfell Tower and eventually reached the building's exterior cladding.
3. Once the fire reached the building's exterior cladding, it relentlessly raced up the sides of the building engulfing it in flames.
4. The highly flammable cladding turned Grenfell Tower into a flaming coffin, entrapping the residents and their guests and sentencing the victims to agonizing and painful deaths by burning and suffocation.
5. In addition to the senseless deaths, scores of residents and guests at the Tower suffered life altering physical, emotional and psychological injuries.
6. The devastating fire began when a Whirlpool fridge-freezer, model number FF175BP (hereinafter referred to as the "Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer"), malfunctioned causing its plastic backing to ignite.
7. The fire was dramatically exacerbated by the tower's external cladding, the exposed core of which was polyethylene, a highly flammable and combustible material.

8. The highly combustible cladding encasing the entirety of the Tower caused the fire to spread rapidly until the fire quickly became uncontrollable.

9. The cladding was designed, manufactured, conceived and/or sold by Defendant Arconic, Inc. and/or its predecessor corporation Alcoa, Inc. and/or Arconic Architectural Products, LLC and/or their subsidiaries, sister corporations, predecessor entities, and/or successor entities (collectively referred to as the “Arconic” unless otherwise indicated) and sold under the trade name/label “Reynobond PE”.

10. Arconic is an iconic Pennsylvania Corporation which was founded in 1888 as the Pittsburgh Reduction Company.

11. Arconic’s nucleus of operations has remained in Pennsylvania since its founding over 100 years ago.

12. Due to its highly flammable nature, Reynobond PE cannot be sold or fit for high rise buildings in the United States, and Arconic therefore determined to exploit the European market and export the danger abroad that they couldn’t sell at home.

13. Through its behavior, Arconic sent the message that foreign lives are worth less than American lives and that it is acceptable to expose people outside the United States to dangers to which people in the United States would not be exposed.

14. Arconic’s behavior has left a black eye on the proud face of the Pennsylvania products designing and manufacturing industry.

15. The Arconic Defendants’ corporate greed and desire to cut corners and save money culminated in the conscious, knowing and reckless decision to supply the cheaper and highly flammable Reynobond polyethylene cladding (hereinafter referred to as “Reynobond PE”) instead of the more expensive Reynobond Fire Resistant cladding (hereinafter referred to as “Reynobond FR”) to Grenfell Tower, despite knowing that the Reynobond PE cladding was unfit for the Tower.

16. The conflagration was further contributed to by the highly combustible Insulation used in Grenfell tower’s external cladding.

17. This cladding was designed and manufactured by another Pennsylvania entity, Celotex Corporation, which through various corporate renamings and mergers is today known as Saint-Gobain Corporation d/b/a Saint-Gobain North America and/or d/b/a Celotex (hereinafter “Celotex”).

18. Defendant Celotex knew that its insulation was highly combustible and was not fit or suitable for use in external cladding for buildings, but knowingly sold and supplied it to the Tower anyway.

19. Worse, Celotex fraudulently manipulated test results to hide the flammable nature of their insulation from consumers.

20. Celotex too, through their conduct has brought shame on the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its proud manufacturing and designing industries.

21. Almost two years of investigation have revealed the unambiguous truth that the tragedy which took the lives of 72 innocent victims and ruined hundreds more was inflicted upon the population of Grenfell by United States corporations and their defiance of safety.

22. As a result of this tragedy, Plaintiffs bring this action seeking compensatory and punitive damages from the United States based corporations whose defective products caused this tragedy.

23. Specifically, Plaintiffs file this action sounding in product liability action against corporations who designed, manufactured, and sold the defective products which caused this tragedy.

24. Plaintiffs are not asserting any claims for negligence but instead are solely seeking recovery based on the applicable product liability laws and the applicable laws regarding punitive damages.

25. Through this action, Plaintiffs assert all available damages under Pennsylvania law for claims sounding in Products Liability and punitive damages aimed at deterring future corporations from behaving in such an irresponsible manner in the future.

THE DEFENDANTS

143. The Arconic Defendants have been deeply entrenched in Pennsylvania history for over 130 years, dating back to the incorporation of the Arconic Defendants' original predecessor, the Pittsburgh Reduction Company, in 1888.

144. The Pittsburgh Reduction Company first opened its doors in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and through each successor corporation has headquartered its global operations from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

145. The Arconic Defendants' original predecessor, the Pittsburgh Reduction Company renamed itself as the Aluminum Company of America in 1907, and continued to orchestrate the entirety of its operations from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

146. In 1999, the Arconic Defendants' predecessor, the Aluminum Company of America, again renamed itself as Alcoa.

147. Alcoa continued to maintain its headquarters and its center of global operations in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

148. The Arconic Defendants launched their first line of Reynobond products from their headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania in 2011.

149. In 2016, the Arconic Defendants' immediate predecessor, Alcoa, launched Arconic as a standalone company, continuing to design, engineer, fabricate, market, sell, distribute, and/or supply Reynobond products from their headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

150. The Arconic Defendants' century-plus of corporate operations, continuously headquartered in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, culminated in the intentional, knowing, and reckless decision to supply the subject Reynobond cladding to the Grenfell Tower, despite knowing that it was unfit, defective, and dangerous for such use. At all times relevant hereto and specifically on the date of the fire, Arconic, Inc. (hereinafter referred to as "Arconic") is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with its principal place of business and headquarters and corporate epicenter located at 201 Isabella St., Pittsburgh, PA 15212.

151. At all times relevant hereto and specifically on the date of the fire, Defendant Arconic, was acting by and through its agents, servants, and/or employees, who were acting within the course and scope of their agency, service and/or employment with Defendant Arconic.

152. Defendant Arconic purposely established significant contacts in Pennsylvania, has carried out, and continues to carry out, substantial, continuous and systematic business activities in Pennsylvania, and regularly conducts business in Philadelphia County.

153. At all relevant times hereto and specifically on the date of the fire, Arconic was engaged in the business of designing, manufacturing, assembling, marketing, distributing and selling the Reynobond PE cladding and other cladding that is the subject of this litigation.

154. At all times relevant hereto and specifically on the date of the fire, Defendant Alcoa Inc. is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with its principal place of business and headquarters and corporate epicenter located at 201 Isabella St., Pittsburgh, PA 15212.

155. At all times relevant hereto and specifically on the date of the fire, Defendant Alcoa Inc. was acting by and through agents, servants, and/or employees, who were acting within the course and scope of their agency, service and/or employment with Defendant Alcoa Inc.

156. Defendant Alcoa Inc. purposely established significant contacts in Pennsylvania, has carried out, and continues to carry out, substantial, continuous and systematic business activities in Pennsylvania, and regularly conducts business in Philadelphia County.

157. At all times relevant hereto and specifically on the date of the fire, Defendant Alcoa Inc. was engaged in the business of designing, manufacturing, assembling, marketing, distributing and selling the Reynobond PE and Reynobond FR cladding that is the subject of this litigation throughout Europe, the United States and including Philadelphia County.

158. At all times relevant hereto and specifically on the date of the fire, Defendant Arconic Architectural Products, LLC (“Arconic Architectural Products”) is a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware, with its principal place of business and headquarters and corporate epicenter located at 201 Isabella St., Pittsburgh, PA 15212 and additional design and production facilities located at 50 Industrial Boulevard, Eastman GA 31023.

159. At all times relevant hereto and specifically on the date of the fire, Defendant Arconic Architectural Products was acting by and through agents, servants, and/or employees, who were acting within the course and scope of their agency, service and/or employment with Defendant Arconic Architectural Products.

160. Defendant Arconic Architectural Products purposely established significant contacts in Pennsylvania, has carried out, and continues to carry out, substantial, continuous and systematic business activities in Pennsylvania, and regularly conducts business in Philadelphia County.

161. At all times relevant hereto, Defendant Arconic Architectural Products was engaged in the business of designing, manufacturing, assembling, marketing, distributing and selling the Reynobond PE and Reynobond FR cladding that is the subject of this litigation throughout Europe, the United States, Pennsylvania and including Philadelphia County.

162. Defendants Arconic Inc., Alcoa Inc., Arconic Architectural Products, LLC and their agents, employees, officers, subsidiaries, parent corporations, sister corporations, predecessor corporations and successor corporations will hereinafter be collectively referred to as the “Arconic Defendants.”

163. Reynobond PE is a registered trademark of the Arconic Defendants.

164. Any actions relevant to this case which may have been carried out by sister companies, subsidiaries, predecessor companies, successor companies, and/or entities otherwise related to the Arconic Defendants were taken by said sister companies, subsidiaries, and/or otherwise related entities as alter-egos of the American-based Arconic Defendants.

165. Any actions relevant to this case which may have been carried out by sister companies, subsidiaries, parent companies and/or entities otherwise related to the Arconic Defendants, whether foreign or domestic, were carried out at the direction and command of, and under the supervision of, the American-based Arconic Defendants.

166. The blending of corporate personnel and responsibilities, as well as, financial and other resources enables the “piercing of the corporate veil” to hold the Arconic Defendants fully liable for the actions of any such sister companies, subsidiaries or otherwise related entities.

Defendants John Does (1-99) are the current and former officers, directors, agents, employees of defendants, their subsidiaries, parent companies, sister companies, successor companies, predecessor companies and/or otherwise related entities who made decisions related to the conduct described in this Complaint which led to the fire at the Grenfell Tower.

195. Defendants ABC Corporations (1-99) are designers, manufacturers, distributors, sellers, suppliers, marketers and/or were in the designing, manufacturing, distributing, selling, supplying, and/or marketing hierarchy of control for the subject products which are described in this Complaint which led to the fire at the Grenfell Tower.

196. Defendants XYZ Corporations (1-99) are the subsidiaries, parent companies, sister companies, successor companies, predecessor companies and/or otherwise related entities to the parties to this action who were involved in the design, manufacturing, or creation of the products described in this Complaint which led to the fire at the Grenfell Tower.

197. Pursuant to Pa.R.Civ.P. 2005, Defendants John Does (1-99), ABC Corporations (1-99), and XYZ Corporations (1-99) are Doe designated defendants added to this action where their actual name/identity is unknown despite a reasonable and diligent search.

198. Plaintiffs reserve the right to amend this Complaint and name said unknown individuals and/or entities, as aforementioned, as additional defendant pursuant to Pennsylvania Rules of Civil Procedure 2005 and 1033.

199. All defendants are registered corporations in Pennsylvania who have consented to the general jurisdiction of Pennsylvania courts and/or have otherwise exercised sufficient contacts with Pennsylvania and specifically with Philadelphia County for jurisdiction and venue to be proper.

JURISDICTION, FORUM, AND VENUE

200. Plaintiff, Kristen Behrens, is a citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

201. The Arconic Defendants' are citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, with a principal place of business and corporate nucleus of operations located in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

202. Defendant Celotex is a citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

203. Accordingly, because Plaintiff, Kristen Behrens, and the Arconic Defendants and Defendant Celotex are all citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, there is no diversity of citizenship and this litigation is proper in state court.

204. Each Defendant has litigated scores of cases in the Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas.

205. As averred throughout this Complaint, each Defendant does substantial business in Philadelphia County.

206. Arconic has acknowledged through shareholder litigation (Howard v. Arconic Inc., et al., Docket No. 2:17-cv-01057 (W.D.Pa.)) that Pennsylvania Courts are a proper venue and forum for litigating disputes arising from the Grenfell Tower tragedy.

207. Plaintiffs' claims, as fully stated herein, all center on the outrageous, willful, wanton, and reckless conduct of Defendants, all of which occurred in the United States and, with regards to the Arconic Defendants and Defendant Celotex, specifically in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

208. The Arconic Defendants designed, engineered, marketed, sold, and/or tested the product at issue, the Reynobond 55 PE cladding, within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

209. All control, supervision, and ultimate decision-making that resulted in the Arconic Defendants knowingly and outrageously supplying the unfit, defective, and dangerous Reynobond cladding to the Grenfell Tower, was exerted by the Arconic Defendants from their nucleus of operations in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

210. The Arconic Defendants' conduct on which Plaintiffs' claims are founded was all orchestrated by the Arconic Defendants' from their nucleus of operations in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

211. Defendant Celotex designed, engineered, marketed, sold, and/or tested the Celotex RS5000 PIR Insulation within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, specifically from its headquarters in Malvern, Pennsylvania.

212. All control, supervision, and ultimate decision-making that resulted in Defendant Celotex knowingly and outrageously supplying the defective, dangerous, and completely unfit Insulation to the Grenfell Tower was exerted by Defendant Celotex from its headquarters in Malvern, Pennsylvania.

213. Defendant Celotex's conduct on which Plaintiffs' claims are founded was orchestrated by Defendant Celotex from its headquarters in Malvern, Pennsylvania.

214. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has a substantial interest in regulating and controlling the conduct of corporations which operate within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

215. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has a substantial interest in preventing corporations within its borders from acting in a reckless, willful, wanton, and punitive manner, as the Arconic Defendants and Defendant Celotex acted in this case.

216. Defendant Whirlpool is and at all relevant times was, registered to conduct business in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and has thus consented to this Honorable Court's exercise of personal jurisdiction over Defendant Whirlpool.

217. Defendant Whirlpool intentionally and specifically targets the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for the sale of its products and for the provision of its services, all of which inured substantial profits and economic benefit to Defendant Whirlpool.

THE TRAGIC EVENTS OF JUNE 14, 2017

218. In the early morning hours of June 14, 2017, shortly before 1:00 a.m., a fire broke out in Flat 16 of the Grenfell Tower.

219. The Tower is a twenty-five story residential apartment building measuring 220 feet, 10 inches tall and containing 120 one- and two-bedroom flats, with Ground, Level 1, 2 and 3 assigned to non-residential purposes.

220. The fire began when a dangerously defective Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer, model number FF175BP, malfunctioned and ignited in the kitchen of Flat 16.

221. Flat 16 is on the fourth floor in the Northeast corner of the Tower:

I. HOW THE FIRE STARTED

222. Post-fire investigation confirmed that the area in which the fire originated within Flat 16 was in the southeast corner of the kitchen, where the subject Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer was located.

223. The first firefighters to enter Flat 16 during the rescue efforts, found that the only room in Flat 16 which contained a fire was the kitchen.

224. Images from the responding firefighters' Thermal Image Cameras ("TICs") confirm hot areas in the southeast corner of the kitchen and specifically within and around the Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer.

225. Examination of the laminate flooring in the kitchen revealed a burn pattern directly underneath the Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer that was not present on any other area of the kitchen's laminate flooring.

226. The burn pattern on the laminate flooring directly underneath the Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer, depicted below, demonstrates that this area was exposed to a heat source or direct flame to a greater extent than any other area of the kitchen floor.

227. All of the other electrical appliances in the kitchen of Flat 16 in and/or around the area of the fire origin were ruled out as causes of the fire.

228. The specific Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer was a model number FF175BP, alleged to have been manufactured in October, 2008.

229. The back of the Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer FF175BP consists of a rear plastic casing, condenser coils, and a compressor located in the bottom rear of the Fridge-Freezer, shown in the below image of an exemplar Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer model number FF175BP that was provided by Whirlpool representatives:

230. The subject Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer's rear plastic casing was highly flammable and, upon information and belief, Defendant Whirlpool knew that the rear plastic casing was highly flammable and for that reason doesn't allow manufacturing for sale in the United States with plastic components.

231. The bottom rear of the Whirlpool FF175BP fridge-freezer, including the subject Fridge-Freezer, contains a compressor, Positive Temperature Coefficient (“PTC”) relay compartment, and a run capacitor, shown in the exemplar below:

232. The photographs below show the compressor in the bottom rear of the subject Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer from Flat 16, and the PTC relay compartment before being removed from the compressor:

233. Following the fire, investigators and experts recovered numerous wires and wire connectors from the compressor relay compartment of the subject Fridge-Freezer.

234. One of the wire connectors from the compressor relay compartment of the subject Fridge-Freezer, shown below labeled Exhibit "JDG/6B" by investigators, was found to have a defective and dangerous crimp connection:

235. A well-engineered and well-executed crimp connection is a solderless electrical connection that is achieved by compressing multiple individual wires together into a tight bundle/arrangement that is held within a metal barrel on the connector.

236. When a crimp connection is properly executed, there will be minimal, if any, voids between the compressed individual wires.

237. A wire connector recovered from the compressor relay compartment that had proper and adequate crimping was examined by CT scan and demonstrates what is seen in a well-executed crimp connection, i.e., no voids between the compressed individual wires:

238. A CT scan of the recovered crimp connector labeled Exhibit JDG/6B revealed a poorly-executed and dangerously defective crimp connection with numerous unacceptable voids between the individual wires and space between the crimp connector barrel and the wires:

239. The voids and spaces seen in the JDG/6B crimping connection recovered from the subject Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer compressor relay compartment are a result of inadequate compression force during the crimping process.

240. The voids and spaces seen in the JDG/6B crimping connection, above, are an easily-preventable defective condition of the subject Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer that is completely and unacceptably unsafe.

241. Poor crimping leads to a decrease in contact area between the connector and wire strands, which in turn is accompanied by an increase in the associated contact resistance as well as a corresponding increase in connector power loss, which results in overheating of the connector.

242. Connectors exposed to long-term high temperatures, such as the JDG/6B crimping connection from the subject Fridge-Freezer, experience a buildup of an oxide layer, which progressively increases contact resistance, further increasing the temperature.

243. As a direct result of Defendant Whirlpool's defective and dangerous crimp connector, JDG/6B, the energized wire within the subject Fridge-Freezer's compressor relay compartment overheated and ignited.

244. The heat from the fire started by the defective and dangerous crimp connector melted off the insulation on adjacent wires, resulting in a short circuit, or "arc fault," from the energized wire across the run capacitor wires in the compressor relay compartment.

245. The aforementioned arc fault created tremendous temperatures within the compressor relay compartment, well in excess of the melting point of copper wires (approximately 1,980 degrees Fahrenheit) and started the fire.

246. The arcing within the compressor relay compartment is further confirmed by a recovered wire from the run capacitor which was arc damaged:

247. The fire was able to quickly escape the compressor relay compartment and the area in the bottom rear of the subject Fridge-Freezer as a direct result of the highly flammable plastic casing on the rear of the subject Fridge-Freezer.

248. The highly flammable plastic casing on the subject Fridge-Freezer quickly ignited and the flames rapidly began spreading from the subject Fridge-Freezer to the area immediately surrounding the subject Fridge-Freezer before the flames eventually exited Flat 16 through the kitchen window, igniting the Tower's exterior cladding.

249. The fire was caused to escape the confines of the subject Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer so aggressively and rapidly as a direct result of the highly flammable plastic casing on the subject Fridge-Freezer.

250. The fire, which began in Flat 16 was completely controllable and readily escapable as evidenced by the occupants of Flat 16 escaping.

251. The true harm and cause of the devastation took place when the fire reached the defective and dangerous exterior components of the building.

II. THE REFURBISHMENT OF GRENFELL TOWER

252. The Grenfell Tower Refurbishment Project sought to both re-design the interior layout of the Tower's flats, increasing the total number of flats from 120 to 127, and increasing the total number of bedrooms in the Tower from 200 to 227.

253. The Grenfell Tower Refurbishment Project also sought to upgrade the exterior of the building to a more modern look that would also replace the substandard heating system, replace the windows, and increase the thermal efficiency of the tower.

254. At the outset of the refurbishment, the estimated costs for the project were 8.7 million Pounds.

255. To accomplish the exterior aspect of the refurbishment, the Tower was supplied with the Arconic Defendants rainscreen aluminum composite panel cladding—the subject Reynobond PE—that was installed over the existing concrete construction of the Tower, with Defendant Celotex's RS5000 PIR Insulation installed between the Reynobond PE cladding and the concrete exterior walls.

256. The Arconic Defendants preyed on the victims of the Grenfell Tower by offering to supply cheaper Reynobond PE, which cost approximately 300,000 Pounds less than its fire resistant cladding, the Reynobond FR, yet was not safe for residential use.

257. The Tower was encased in a rainscreen cladding system that was installed during a large scale renovation of the Tower from 2012 to 2016.

258. The external wall construction of the Tower was originally of concrete construction, but the refurbishment of the Tower from 2012 to 2016 encased the Tower in a drained and ventilated rainscreen cladding system.

III. THE EXTERNAL FACADE OF THE GRENFELL TOWER

259. The rainscreen cladding system utilized from Levels 4-23 of the Tower was Reynobond 55 PE 4mm Smoke Silver Metallic E9107S DG 5000 Washcoat (hereinafter “Reynobond PE”), which was designed, manufactured, and sold by the Arconic Defendants.

260. The Reynobond PE cladding consists of aluminum composite panels, a polyethylene core, and a ventilation cavity.

261. The polyethylene core of the Reynobond PE cladding is highly flammable.

262. Arconic makes a fire resistant version of its Reynobond cladding, which is known as Reynobond FR.

263. Upon information and belief, Reynobond PE is cheaper to manufacture than Reynobond FR.

264. The ventilation cavity of the Reynobond PE cladding system was approximately 140 mm in depth over the columns which ran vertically up the face of the Tower, and approximately 155 mm in depth over the spandrels (spandrels are horizontal sections running above and below the windows of the flats, and connecting each column):

265. The Reynobond PE cladding panels on the spandrels were hung on vertical cladding rails and affixed to the building as follows:

- a. Steel angles were fixed to the window head and sill along the majority of the length of the window opening;
- b. Brackets were then fixed to the steel angles;
- c. Cladding rails were then fixed to the brackets;
- d. The Reynobond PE cladding panels were then “hung” on the cladding rail.

266. The Reynobond PE cladding was dangerously and defectively designed and manufactured in that it was extremely flammable and completely unfit for use in a high-rise apartment building.

267. European Standard EN 13501-1 provides the reaction to fire classification for all products and building elements and, according to this standard, reaction to a fire is the response of a product in contributing by its own decomposition to a fire to which it is exposed. EN 13501-1 classifies construction products as Class A-F.

268. The Reynobond PE cladding was classified as a Class E under EN 13501-1, meaning that it was “combustible materials – highly contribution to fire”

	D - s3 d0	D - s3 d1	D - s3 d2
combustible materials - highly contribution to fire	E		E - d2
combustible materials - easily flammable	F

269. Upon information and belief, the Arconic Defendants knew that its Reynobond PE cladding was classified as Class E and that it was combustible and highly flammable.

270. The Reynobond PE was classified by European regulation as “combustible materials – highly contribion to fire” pursuance to Approved Document B 2013 (“ADB 2013”), Section 12, Regulation B4, which required external walls to “adequately resist the spread of fire over the walls and from one building to another.”

271. As discussed more in depth herein, the Reynobond PE cladding that the Arconic Defendants knowingly supplied to the Grenfell Tower was wholly unfit and exceptionally dangerous for use on the Tower given the Tower’s height.

272. Upon information and belief, the Arconic Defendants knew that the Reynobond PE cladding should not have been used on the Grenfell Tower due to its dangerous flammability and the risk that it posed to each and every resident of the Tower.

273. Despite this knowledge and in an act of pure corporate greed, the Arconic Defendants knowingly supplied the Reynobond PE cladding to the Grenfell Tower even though, upon information and belief, the Arconic Defendants knew that the Reynobond PE was extremely flammable and the Arconic Defendants knew that the Reynobond PE cladding should not be installed on buildings as tall as Grenfell Tower.

274. The outrageous decision to supply the Grenfell Tower with Reynobond PE cladding, while knowing that such cladding was improper and dangerous for use on the Tower, was made, orchestrated, and overseen by the Arconic Defendants' nucleus of operations in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

275. The Reynobond PE cladding is also dangerously and defectively designed and manufactured in that the highly flammable polyethylene core of the Reynobond PE cladding was exposed around the perimeter of the panel and thus susceptible to fire infiltration, ignition, and combustion:

276. Behind the Reynobond PE cladding panels on the spandrels, two layers of 80 mm combustible Celotex RS5000, a highly flammable polyisocyanurate (“PIR”) was affixed to the external face of the existing concrete spandrel panels.

277. The insulation was affixed by a 180 mm stake screwed into the face of the existing concrete spandrel and which pierced the Celotex RS5000 PIR insulation, thus mechanically fixing the insulation to the existing structure.

278. Over the spandrels, there was a ventilation cavity of approximately 156 mm in depth between the inside face of the Reynobond PE cladding panels and the outer face of the Celotex RS5000 PIR Insulation.

279. Over the columns, there was cavity depth of approximately 139 mm between the inside face of the Reynobond PE cladding panel and the outer face of the Celotex RS5000 PIR insulation.

280. The Celotex RS5000 PIR insulation was mechanically affixed to the columns in the same manner as how it was applied to the spandrels.

281. There is no question that Celotex RS5000 PIR insulation was the insulation affixed to the exterior of the Tower, behind the Reynobond PE cladding and ventilation cavity. This was confirmed by post-accident investigation:

IV. HOW THE REYNOBOND PE CLADDING AND CELOTEX RS5000 INSULATION CAUSED THE RAPID, UNCONTROLLABLE AND DEVASTATING FIRE SPREAD

282. The fire first began exiting the kitchen window of Flat 16 at approximately 1:08 a.m., and the fire first spread to the Reynobond PE cladding and Celotex RS5000 PIR Insulation by 1:14 a.m., as shown in the photographs below:

1:08 a.m.

1:14 a.m.

283. Once the fire penetrated the aluminum panels, the highly flammable polyethylene core of the Reynobond PE cladding and Celotex RS5000 insulation were exposed, became ignited, fed the fire and caused it to accelerate and increase in size and intensity.

284. The ventilation cavity in the cladding acted as an additional source of oxygen for the blaze, providing significant air flow and even more fuel for the fire.

285. The Reynobond PE cladding and Celotex RS5000 exacerbated the spread of the fire so severely that by 1:26 a.m.—just twelve (12) minutes after the fire had first spread to the cladding and insulation—the fire had already raced up nineteen (19) floors, to Level 23:

1:22 a.m.

1:26 a.m.

286. By 1:29 a.m., the fire had spread vertically up the East face to the top of the Tower.

287. As the fire reached the top of the Tower, the Reynobond PE cladding with its dangerously exposed and highly flammable polyethylene core, and the Celotex RS 5000 PIR Insulation, provided the fire with all of the fuel it needed to continue its spread across the building.

288. At 1:29 a.m., the fire began spreading horizontally across the Reynobond PE cladding and Celotex RS5000 PIR Insulation, spreading from the East face of the Tower to the North face.

289. By 1:36 a.m., the Reynobond PE cladding and Celotex RS5000 PIR Insulation caused the fire to begin spreading across the East face of the Tower towards the southeast corner of the Tower, creating two distinct Flame Spread Routes:

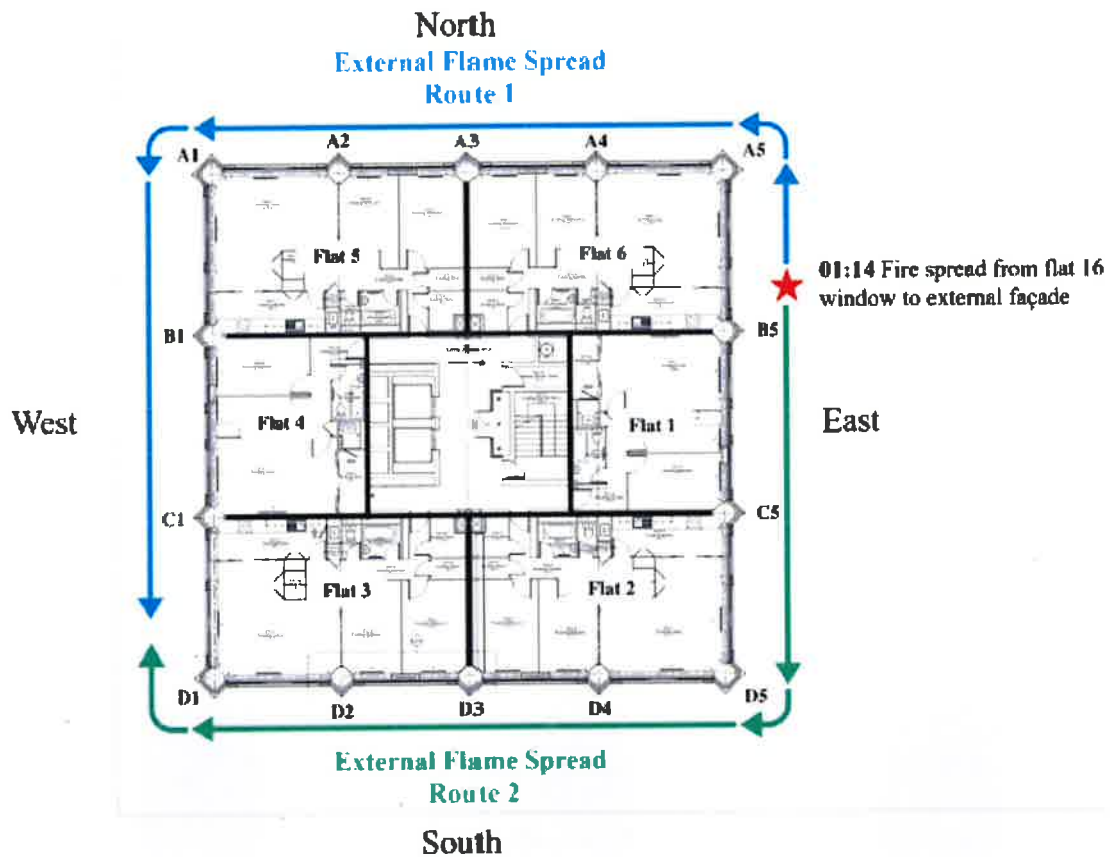

1:29 a.m.

1:36 a.m.

290. These two distinct Flame Spread Routes were each fed and exacerbated by the Reynobond PE cladding and Celotex RS5000 PIR Insulation, with Flame Spread Route 1 traveling from Flat 16, in the northeast corner of the Tower, across the North and West faces of the tower, until it converged with Flame Spread Route 2, which traveled from Flat 16 across the East face of the tower before converging with Spread Route 1 in the Southwest corner of the Tower.

291. The two distinct Flame Spread Routes are depicted below:

292. As the Reynobond PE cladding and Celotex RS5000 PIR Insulation caused the fire to race across the Tower, the cladding which had become engulfed in flames caused fire to enter back into the Tower through the windows of the flats.

293. By 2:22 a.m., the fire had decimated the East face of the Tower, caused fires within the flats on the East face, and was ravaging the North face of the Tower.

294. By 3:23 a.m., the North face of the Tower had become completely involved in fire, and the fire was quickly engulfing the West face of the Tower:

2:22 a.m.

3:23 a.m.

295. By 3:48 a.m., Flame Spread Routes 1 and 2 had nearly converged, and all four faces of the Tower were being decimated by the aggressive and deadly blaze.

296. At approximately 4:03 a.m., Flame Spread Routes 1 and 2 had completely converged and the North, South, East, and West faces of the Tower were engulfed in flames, nearly all of the Flats had internal fires, and the top of the building had caught fire.

3:48 a.m.

~4:03 a.m.

297. The fire would not have been able to propagate across and throughout the Tower as quickly and aggressively as it did without the fuel provided by the highly flammable Reynobond PE cladding and Celotex RS5000 PIR Insulation.

298. The Reynobond PE cladding and Celotex RS5000 provided effectively limitless fuel for the fire, and the ventilation cavity in the cladding system allowed for an abundance of air flow which helped fuel and spread the fire.

299. The extreme flammability of the Reynobond PE cladding panels and the Celotex RS5000 PIR Insulation caused the fire to continuously penetrate back into the Tower and by 9:50 p.m., approximately 22 hours after the fire started, the fire was still raging on inside the Tower.

300. The fire raged for more than sixty (60) hours until firefighters were able to finally extinguish the devastating inferno and, in the wake, stood the charred Grenfell Tower:

301. By the time the fire was fully extinguished, seventy-one (71) people had perished, one (1) would tragically die months later as a result of the horrific injuries sustained in the fire, and scores of residents who were able to escape had suffered catastrophic physical, psychological, and emotional injuries.

THE DEFENDANTS' OUTRAGEOUSLY RECKLESS ACTS

302. All of the Defendants in this case chose to expose the residents of the Grenfell Tower, including Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' decedents, to the extreme and unreasonable risk of severe injury or death caused by fire, all in the name of corporate profits.

303. Each Defendant chose to supply the United Kingdom and/or specifically the Grenfell Tower with the cheaper, highly flammable versions of their respective products in order to achieve higher profits.

304. Each Defendant knowingly chose profits over the lives of the Grenfell Tower residents.

305. The Arconic Defendants' conscious choice of increased profits over the lives of the Grenfell Tower residents was, upon information and belief, orchestrated by and through the Arconic Defendants' international nucleus of operations, located in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

306. The Whirlpool Defendant's choice to expose residents of the United Kingdom to the foreseeable and extreme risk of fire by selling fridge-freezers with plastic casing instead of the metal casing required in the United States, was made through the Whirlpool Defendant's headquarters located in Benton Harbor, Michigan.

307. Defendant Celotex's decision to supply insulation known to be extremely flammable for use in a tower Defendant Celotex knew to be over 200 feet tall was made by and through Defendant Celotex's North American headquarters and nucleus of operations, located in Malvern, Pennsylvania.

I. THE ARCONIC DEFENDANTS

308. The Arconic Defendants knowingly placed lives at risk when it supplied its highly flammable Reynobond PE cladding to Grenfell Tower despite knowing that the Reynobond PE cladding was unfit for the Tower and posed a dangerous fire hazard.

309. When deciding what cladding is to be supplied to buildings, the paramount concern and consideration must be the safety of the men, women and children living in the building.

310. Reynobond PE cladding should never be used in buildings over 40 feet high because should a fire break out and ignite the highly flammable polyethylene core and insulation, as it did at the Grenfell Tower, the maximum reach of a firefighter's fully extended ladder is approximately 40 feet.

311. Prior to this tragedy, the Arconic Defendants acknowledged and specifically warned consumers that its cladding presented a substantial fire risk and that, "[a]nother important rule when it comes to the height of buildings concerns the accessibility of the fire brigade to the fire in the building: as soon as the building is higher than the firefighters' ladders, it has to be conceived with an incombustible material."

Fire is a key issue when it comes to buildings

When conceiving a building, it is crucial to choose the adapted products in order to avoid the fire to spread to the whole building. Especially when it comes to facades and roofs, the fire can spread extremely rapidly.

Important to take the "fire characteristic" into account when starting the construction or refurbishment of a building in order to protect the people and assets while limiting fire propagation. It is especially crucial for public establishments such as hospitals, schools, offices, etc.

Buildings are also classified according to their height and destination (public buildings, industrial buildings, housings...): it will also define which materials are safer to use. Another important rule when it comes to the height of buildings concerns the accessibility of the fire brigade to the fire in the building: as soon as the building is higher than the firefighters' ladders, it has to be conceived with an incombustible material.

In order to appear and spread, fire needs three elements: heat source, combustion agent (usually oxygen) and fuel.

As soon as the building is higher than the firefighters' ladders, it has to be conceived with an incombustible material.

312. The Arconic Defendants unquestionably knew that its Reynobond PE cladding must never be used in buildings greater than 40 feet high because it created a substantial risk of harm.

313. Grenfell Tower was approximately 220 feet tall.

314. Reynobond PE cladding was completely unfit for the Tower.

315. The Arconic Defendants' had direct knowledge that the Tower was much greater than 40 feet high.

316. Upon information and belief, the Arconic Defendants' order acknowledgments and purchase orders confirm the total area of Reynobond 55 PE 4mm Smoke Silver Metallic E9107S DG 5000 Washcoat—the Reynobond PE cladding utilized on all floors from 4 upwards—being delivered to the Grenfell Tower was 6,586 m².

317. Based on the total area of Reynobond PE the Arconic Defendants knowingly supplied to the Grenfell Tower, there is absolutely no question the Arconic Defendants knew that the Grenfell Tower was greater than 40 feet tall and thus wholly unfit to be encased in Reynobond PE cladding.

318. All strategic business plans, both foreign and domestic, for the Arconic Defendants originates from Arconic's Pennsylvania-based corporate hub.

319. A purchase of material of the necessary quantity for the Grenfell Tower, as discussed above, would necessarily receive the attention of the Arconic Defendants' employees and agents in the United States.

320. Knowledge of the specific order of the material for the Grenfell Tower was received by Grenfell's agents and employees in the United States.

321. Knowledge of the specific order of the material for the Grenfell Tower was received by Arconic's agents and employees in Pennsylvania.

322. The Arconic Defendants' fabrication facilities in Europe take all instruction on design and fabrication from the United States based operations.

323. The Arconic Defendants knew that providing Reynobond PE cladding to the Tower presented an extreme and grave risk of harm to people living in the Tower.

324. The Arconic Defendants knew of the dangers of Reynobond PE and its dangerous propensity to rapidly propagate any fire prior to the date of the fire by virtue of testing which occurred in the United States.

325. Upon information and belief, the fire resistance testing of the Reynobond PE took place in Pennsylvania and Georgia demonstrated the propensities of Reynobond PE to rapidly propagate any fire.

326. Testing done for the Arconic Defendants by ICC-ES confirmed that Reynobond PE was flammable and should not be installed in any building above 40 feet pursuant to the limitations of the IBC and the National Fire Protection Association ("NFPA").

327. Upon information and belief, testing of the Reynobond PE done for Arconic Defendants was performed by Architectural Testing, Inc. and/or Intertek, in Pennsylvania.

328. Through the aforementioned testing, the Arconic Defendants unquestionably knew that its Reynobond PE cladding did not comply with NFPA 285 and that the Reynobond PE cladding must never be used in buildings greater than 40 feet high because it created a substantial risk of harm.

329. Despite this knowledge, The Arconic Defendants, through their personnel located in the Arconic Defendants' international nucleus of operations in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, decided to recklessly ignore the safety of the hundreds of people that lived in the Tower by cutting corners to save money and increase profits, and provided the defective Reynobond PE cladding to the Tower.

330. Upon information and belief, the Arconic Defendants' Reynobond PE is cheaper for the Arconic Defendants to manufacture and produce and sales of the Reynobond PE inure greater profits to the Arconic Defendants.

331. The Arconic Defendants knew that the United States market for Reynobond PE was significantly limited given that the United States would not allow the Reynobond PE to be installed on any building greater than 40 feet in height.

332. As a result, the Arconic Defendants sought to peddle their highly flammable and dangerously defective Reynobond PE in Europe, specifically in the United Kingdom.

333. At all times relevant hereto, the decisions made by the Arconic Defendants to knowingly supply the flammable Reynobond PE cladding to the Tower were orchestrated, made and carried out through the Arconic Defendants' headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania and was in defiance of the safety information learned by the US testing of its product.

334. The Arconic Defendants had an unquestionable and nondelegable duty to provide a product free from dangerous defects.

335. The Arconic Defendants egregiously failed to abide by their duty.

336. The Arconic Defendants chose to place profits over people and knowingly exposed the Tower's residents to risks with catastrophic consequences.

337. The Arconic Defendants' corporate-greed-driven actions, orchestrated and carried out from its headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, resulted in seventy-two (72) deaths and the unimaginable physical, psychological, and emotional suffering of those who escaped the fire.

338. The Arconic Defendants failed to warn their costumers and/or the public or construction industry concerning the dangerous associated with their product with they knew or should have known about.

339. The Arconic Defendants' conduct, as described above, demonstrated a willful and wanton disregard for the safety and health of the Grenfell Tower residents, Plaintiffs and their decedents.

II. DEFENDANT CELOTEX

340. Defendant Celotex, knew that its RS5000 PIR Insulation was highly combustible, dangerously flammable, noncompliant with applicable regulations, and completely unfit for use in the Grenfell Tower.

341. Defendant Celotex knew that its RS5000 PIR Insulation would emit toxic fumes if burned.

342. Defendant Celotex knew that use of its RS5000 PIR Insulation in exterior building cladding installed on buildings greater than forty feet (40 ft.) tall posed a significant and substantial risk of harm to the people living in any such building due to the highly combustible and dangerously flammable propensity of its Insulation, as well as the exceedingly dangerous propensity to release toxic fumes if ignited.

343. Outrageously, Defendant Celotex knowingly falsified and doctored testing performed on its RS5000 PIR Insulation in order to falsely claim that the Insulation was more fire resistant than it actually was.

344. Upon information and belief, the Celotex Defendant added a fire-retardant element and/or component to the RS5000 Insulation sample that was used for safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing solely for the purpose of deceiving and/or falsifying the aforementioned testing and/or certification.

345. Defendant Celotex unquestionably knew that adding a fire-retardant element and/or component to the RS5000 Insulation sample that was used for safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing solely for the purpose of deceiving and/or falsifying the aforementioned testing and/or certification presented an unreasonable and outrageous risk of severe injury and/or death to the public and residents of buildings encased with the RS5000 Insulation, including Plaintiff's decedent.

346. Upon information and belief, Defendant Celotex's heinous decision to add a fire-retardant element and/or component to the RS5000 Insulation sample that was used for safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing solely for the purpose of deceiving and/or falsifying the aforementioned testing and/or certification was orchestrated, controlled, demanded, and/or overseen by Defendant Celotex's headquarters in Malvern, Pennsylvania, United States.

347. The decision to add a fire-retardant element and/or component to the RS5000 Insulation solely to deceive and/or falsify the safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing but sell its RS5000 without said fire retardant element and/or component is obscenely outrageous, willful and wanton conduct that knowingly placed the health and safety of the members of the public and residents of the Grenfell Tower in jeopardy.

348. The RS5000 PIR Insulation was noncompliant with ADB 2013 and the functional requirement of B4(1) of the Building Regulations 2010 at the time of its installation in that it was incapable of adequately resisting the spread of fire.

349. Upon information and belief, Defendant Celotex knew that the RS5000 Insulation was unfit for the Tower.

350. Despite this knowledge, Defendant Celotex supplied the Insulation to the Grenfell Tower.

351. Upon information and belief, the decision to supply the Grenfell Tower with RS5000 PIR Insulation despite knowledge that the Insulation was dangerously unfit for the Tower was orchestrated, controlled, demanded, and/or overseen by Defendant Celotex's headquarters in Malvern, Pennsylvania, United States.

352. Defendant Celotex made fraudulent misrepresentations of material fact regarding the safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing of its RS5000, which Defendant Celotex intended the public and specifically the residents of the Grenfell Tower, including Plaintiffs, to rely upon.

353. Defendant Celotex made fraudulent misrepresentations of material fact regarding the safety and fitness of its RS5000 for use on the Grenfell Tower, which Defendant Celotex intended the public and specifically the residents of the Grenfell Tower, including Plaintiffs, to rely upon.

354. The residents of the Grenfell Tower relied upon the aforementioned fraudulent misrepresentations of material fact made by Defendant Celotex.

355. Defendant Celotex also knew that its RS5000 Insulation, if burned, would release dangerous and toxic cyanide fumes.

356. Despite this knowledge, Defendant Celotex knowingly supplied its dangerously defective RS5000 Insulation for use on the Grenfell Tower.

357. Defendant Celotex supplied dangerously defective and highly flammable RS5000 Insulation despite knowing that hundreds of people within the Grenfell Tower would be relying on Celotex to provide a product that was free from dangerous defects.

358. Defendant Celotex, in an act of corporate greed, placed its profits over the health and safety of the men, women and children living in the Grenfell Tower who relied on Celotex to provide a safe product.

359. The Celotex Defendants failed to warn their constomers and/or the public or construction industry concerning the dangerous associated with their product with they knew or should have known about.

360. Defendant Celotex's conduct, as described above, demonstrated a willful and wanton disregard for the safety and health of the Grenfell Tower residents, including Plaintiffs and their decedents.

III. DEFENDANT WHIRLPOOL

361. The defective Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer that started the deadly fire was made even more dangerous by virtue of its flammable plastic casing.

362. Using the plastic casing instead of the metal casing on the fridge-freezer results in no functional or practical benefit and the use of plastic casing is intended only to reduce Defendant Whirlpool's manufacturing costs.

363. Upon information and belief, Defendant Whirlpool knew that its plastic casing fridge-freezers, including the subject Fridge-Freezer, were flammable and would act to propagate a fire.

364. Upon information and belief, Defendant Whirlpool knew that use of metal casings on fridge-freezers, such as those that must be sold in the United States, has specific fire safety properties that act to contain any fire within the confines of the fridge-freezer.

365. There are regulations in the United States which prohibit Defendant Whirlpool from selling the plastic casing fridge-freezers, such as the Model FF175BP.

366. Specifically, the UL 250 standard for Household Refrigerators and Freezers requires Enclosures on all refrigeration appliances, such as the Model FF175BP, to be made of a material which "prevents propagation of flame due to electrical disturbances occurring within."

367. The UL 250 also requires that the parts used in refrigeration appliances, such as the Model FF175BP, "not support combustion for more than 60 seconds after the fifth application of the test flame, nor shall it be destroyed to such an extent as to: a) reduce electrical spacings below those specified in Clauses 6.1 and 6.2; and b) expose uninsulated live parts in line-voltage circuits as determined by the requirements for assembly, Clause 4.5.”

368. Despite this aforementioned knowledge, Defendant Whirlpool continued to sell its plastic casing fridge-freezers, including the subject Fridge-Freezer, in the United Kingdom.

369. Prior to the date of the fire, Defendant Whirlpool had direct knowledge that the FF175BP fridge-freezer was susceptible to causing fires.

370. Prior to the date of the fire, Defendant Whirlpool was explicitly notified of five (5) reported fires in the FF175BP fridge-freezer, which occurred on September 26, 2011, March 28, 2013, September 5, 2013, October 31, 2014, and June 25, 2015.

371. This knowledge was or should have been supplied to the United States based Whirlpool headquarters.

372. Whirlpool did nothing to notify purchasers, users, or the public at large of the dangers associated with their product which they came to be aware of and failed to recall the product.

373. Thus, prior to the fire at the Grenfell Tower which killed 72 people and devastatingly injured scores of people, Defendant Whirlpool had direct knowledge that FF175BP fridge-freezers that were alleged to be manufactured in October, 2008, just as the subject Fridge-Freezer was, were defective and susceptible to bursting into flames.

374. Defendant Whirlpool’s aforementioned actions knowingly placed the lives of Grenfell Tower residents in grave danger, and there were catastrophic consequences.

375. Defendant Whirlpool’s actions were a willful and wanton display of reckless disregard to the health and safety of Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs’ decedents.

376. The Whirlpool Defendants failed to warn their constomers and/or the public or construction industry concerning the dangerous associated with their product with they knew or should have known about.

377. The Courts of the United States have an interest in regulating the conduct of United States based companies including Whirlpool, Arconic and Celotex.

378. The Courts of Pennsylvania specifically have an interest in regulating the conduct of corporations who avail themselves of Pennsylvania laws, choose to headquarter in Pennsylvania, and operate their principal place of business out of Pennsylvania.

INJURIES AND DAMAGES – DECEDENTS, ESTATES AND BENEFICIARIES

379. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants strict products liability, outrageously willful and wanton conduct, and punitive conduct, all decedents named herein suffered serious, severe, disabling injuries including, but not limited to, their excruciating deaths and conscious pain and suffer, resulting from being burned alive and inhalation of smoke, super-heated air, and toxic fumes.

380. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' strict products liability, outrageously willful and wanton conduct, and punitive conduct, which resulted in the death of all decedents named herein, all decedents' beneficiaries and Estates have in the past and will in the future continue to suffer great loss, including, but not limited to, loss of companionship, loss of comfort, loss of society, loss of guidance, loss of solace, loss of protection, profound emotional loss, and profound psychological loss.

381. As a direct and proximate result of the foregoing, all named decedents' wrongful death beneficiaries and Estates incurred or have been caused to incur puciniary loss including but not limited to loss of future earning capacity and various expenses for various funeral, burial, and estate and administration expenses for which Plaintiff is entitled to compensation.

382. As a direct and proximate result of the Defendants' strict products liability, outrageously willful and wanton conduct, and punitive conduct, Plaintiff claims damages suffered by the above-captioned Estates by reason of the death of decedents, including, without limiting the generality thereof, the following: severe injuries to each respective decedent which resulted in their deaths; the anxiety, horror, fear of impending death, mental disturbance, pain, suffering, emotional distress from witnessing deaths and injuries to loved ones and other intangible losses which each decedent suffered prior to their death; the loss of future earning capacity suffered by each decedent from the date of their death until the time in the future that the particular decedent would have lived had the decedent not died as a result of the injuries they sustained; and the loss and total limitation and deprivation of each decedent's normal activities, pursuits and pleasures from the date of their death until such time in the future as the particular decedent would have lived had they not died as a result of the injuries sustained by reason of the strict products liability, outrageously willful and wanton conduct, and punitive conduct of Defendants.

383. The purpose of these wrongful death and survival claims is to fully assert all claims for damages recoverable in Pennsylvania on behalf of Estates, decedents, and beneficiaries, which are available for actions sounding in products liability and punitive damages and to the extent specific claims are inadvertently omitted on behalf of any plaintiff, the right of amendment is hereby preserved.

384. To the extent any beneficiaries are unknown or unidentified or any issues exist with the opening of any estates, all claims on behalf of all estates, decedents and beneficiares remain preserved.

INJURIES AND DAMAGES - SURVIVORS

385. As a direct and proximate result of Defendants' strict products liability, outrageously willful and wanton conduct, and punitive conduct, Plaintiff, Ahmed Abdel-Rasoul was forced to suffer serious, disabling, and permanent injuries, including but not limited to burns, smoke inhalation, super-heated air inhalation, inhalation of toxic fumes, exposure to a dramatically increased risk of life-threatening conditions, abrasions, lacerations, sprains, strains, orthopedic injuries, neurological injuries, psychological injuries, and emotional distress, the full extent of which has yet to be determined. Plaintiff, Ahmed Abdel-Rasoul has in the past and may in the future require medicines, medical care and treatment. Plaintiff, Ahmed Abdel-Rasoul has in the past and may in the future continue to be compelled to expend monies and incur further obligations for such medical care and treatment. COUNT I – PRODUCTS LIABILITY

PLAINTIFFS v. ARCONIC, INC., ALCOA INC., ARCONIC ARCHITECTURAL PRODUCTS, LLC, JOHN DOES (1-99), ABC CORPORATIONS (1-99) and XYZ
CORPORATIONS (1-99)

561. Plaintiffs hereby incorporate by reference each and every allegation contained in the preceding paragraphs the same as though fully set forth herein.

562. The Arconic Defendants, by and through their agents, servants, workers, contractors, designers, assemblers, manufacturers, sellers, subsidiaries, sister corporations, parent companies, successor corporations, predecessor corporations, suppliers and/or distributors, are strictly liable under § 402(A) of the Restatement (Second) of Torts and the Restatement (Third) of Torts: Product Liability because:

- a. Defendants are engaged in the business of designing, manufacturing, assembling, distributing, selling and/or supplying Reynobond PE cladding;
- b. The Reynobond PE cladding which caused Plaintiffs' deaths and injuries was created, designed, marketed and placed in the general stream of commerce by Defendants;
- c. The Reynobond PE cladding was expected to and did reach users without substantial change in the condition in which it was designed, manufactured, assembled, distributed and/or sold;
- d. The Reynobond PE cladding was designed, manufactured, assembled, distributed and/or sold in the defective condition for the reasons set forth below.

563. The Arconic Defendants, by and through their agents, servants, workers, contractors, designers, assemblers, manufacturers, sellers, suppliers and/or distributors, are strictly liable under § 402(A) of the Restatement (Second) of Torts, by:

- a. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product in a defective condition;
- b. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that failed to comply with NFPA 285;

- c. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that failed to comply with IBC 1407;
- d. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that failed to comply with ADB 2013;
- e. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that failed to comply with the functional requirements of Section B4(1) of Building Regulations 2010;
- f. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the subject Reynobond PE cladding without a flame-retardant core;
- g. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the subject Reynobond PE cladding with the flammable polyethylene core exposed and susceptible to infiltration of fire and ignition;
- h. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the a product that was known to be unfit for the purpose for which Defendants supplied the product;
- i. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that was unreasonably dangerous to its intended and foreseeable users;
- j. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that was not safe for all of its intended and represented purposes;
- k. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which lacked all the necessary safety features to protect users of the Reynobond PE cladding, including the residents of Grenfell Tower;
- l. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and serious injuries caused by Reynobond PE cladding, failing to make all the necessary corrections to eliminate the risk of fire and prevent future fires and injuries;
- m. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by Reynobond PE cladding, failing to adequately warn users that the Reynobond PE cladding was susceptible to igniting, catching fire and/or accelerating the spread of fire;

- n. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by Reynobond PE cladding, failing to incorporate a flame retardant core;
- o. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by Reynobond PE cladding, failing to incorporate flame retardant features to prevent ignition, catching fire and/or accelerating the spread of fire;
- p. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the Reynobond PE cladding with combustible and/or flammable components;
- q. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by Reynobond PE cladding, failing to design the subject cladding to avoid any unreasonable risk of harm to anyone who is likely to be exposed to the danger when the product is used in the intended manner or as foreseeably used;
- r. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by Reynobond PE cladding, failing to utilize alternative, feasible designs to avoid any unreasonable risk of harm to anyone who is likely to be exposed to the danger when the product is used in the intended manner or as foreseeably used;
- s. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which lacked all the necessary safety warnings and/or instructions regarding the possible risks of using the product that may be required;
- t. Failing to recall the defective and dangerous product after hazards and/or other dangerous incidents were discovered;
- u. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product the risks and hazards of which far outweigh any utility or benefit of the product (i.e. in violation of the risk utility test); and
- v. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product the risks of which were unknown or unknowable to the consumer (i.e. in violation of the consumer expectations test).

564. By conducting themselves as set forth above, the Arconic Defendants' acts and/or omissions were a substantial factor in, a factual cause of, and/or increased the risk of the fire that caused Plaintiffs' injuries and deaths.

565. The Reynobond PE cladding was not equipped at the time it left Defendants' possession and control with every element necessary to make it safe for its reasonably foreseeable uses and reasonably foreseeable misuses.

566. By reason of the breach of duties—pursuant to § 402(A) of the Restatement of the Law of Torts (Second)—by the Arconic Defendants, by and through their agents, servants, workmen, contractors, suppliers, distributors and/or employees as aforesaid, Plaintiffs and their decedents were caused to sustain serious and permanent disabling personal injuries resulting in her tragic death as set forth above.

567. The safety of the public and the residents that would be exposed to the Arconic Defendants' cladding must come first and be the paramount concern and consideration.

568. However, the Arconic Defendants knowingly exposed the public and the innocent residents of Grenfell Tower to the imminent and unreasonable risk of injury and death.

569. The Arconic Defendants acted upon their corporate greed and knowingly supplied Reynobond PE cladding to Grenfell Tower, which it unquestionably knew to be much greater than 40 feet and therefore completely unsuited for Reynobond PE cladding.

570. The Arconic Defendants knew that Reynobond PE cladding was unfit for the Tower.

571. The Arconic Defendants knowingly designed and supplied Reynobond PE cladding when Defendants knew that it was unfit and improper.

572. The Arconic Defendants' outrageous and reckless decision to supply Reynobond PE cladding was orchestrated, overseen, and/or controlled from the Arconic Defendants' headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, United States.

573. The Arconic Defendants exhibited a willful and wanton disregard for the safety and health of the residents of Grenfell Tower and the public in general.

574. The Arconic Defendants made fraudulent misrepresentations of material fact regarding the safety and fitness of its product, the Reynobond PE, for use on the Grenfell Tower, which the Arconic Defendants intended the residents of the Grenfell Tower to rely upon.

575. The Arconic Defendants made fraudulent misrepresentations of material fact regarding the fire safety of its product, the Reynobond PE, which the Arconic Defendants intended the residents of the Grenfell Tower to rely upon.

576. The residents of the Grenfell Tower relied upon the aforementioned fraudulent misrepresentations of material fact made by the Arconic Defendants.

577. The Grenfell Tower residents' reliance on the aforementioned fraudulent misrepresentations made by the Arconic Defendants was a factual cause of the harm suffered by Plaintiff's decedent.

578. By reason of the Arconic Defendants willful and wanton disregard for the safety and health of the residents of Grenfell Tower and the general public, Plaintiffs and their decedents were caused to sustain serious and permanent disabling injuries and deaths, as set forth above.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs demand judgment in their favor and against Defendants Arconic, Inc., Alcoa Inc., Arconic Architectural Products, John Does (1-99), ABC Corporations (1-99) and XYZ Corporations (1-99) an amount in excess of the jurisdictional threshold in compensatory damages, punitive damages, delay damages, interest and allowable costs of suit and brings this action to recover same.

COUNT II – PRODUCTS LIABILITY

PLAINTIFFS v. WHIRLPOOL CORPORATION, JOHN DOES (1-99), ABC
CORPORATIONS (1-99) and XYZ CORPORATIONS (1-99)

579. Plaintiff hereby incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in the preceding paragraphs the same as though fully set forth herein.

580. Defendant Whirlpool, by and through their agents, servants, workers, contractors, designers, assemblers, manufacturers, sellers, subsidiaries, sister corporations, parent companies, successor corporations, predecessor corporations, suppliers and/or distributors, are strictly liable under § 402(A) of the Restatement (Second) of Torts and the Restatement (Third) of Torts: Product Liability because:

- a. Defendants are engaged in the business of designing, manufacturing, assembling, distributing, selling and/or supplying Hotpoint Fridge-Freezers;
- b. The Whirlpool/Hotpoint Fridge-Freezer which caused the Grenfell Tower fire and Plaintiffs' deaths and injuries was created, designed, marketed and placed in the general stream of commerce by Defendant Whirlpool;
- c. The Whirlpool/Hotpoint Fridge-Freezer was expected to and did reach users without substantial change in the condition in which it was designed, manufactured, assembled, distributed and/or sold;
- d. The Whirlpool/Hotpoint Fridge-Freezer was designed, manufactured, assembled, distributed and/or sold in the defective condition for the reasons set forth below.

581. Defendant Whirlpool, by and through their agents, servants, workers, contractors, designers, assemblers, manufacturers, sellers, suppliers and/or distributors, are strictly liable under § 402(A) of the Restatement of the Law of Torts (Second), by:

- a. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product in a defective condition;
- b. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the subject Fridge-Freezer with a highly flammable plastic casing;

- c. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the subject Fridge-Freezer with a highly flammable plastic casing despite knowing that the metal casing it was required to use while selling in the United States would provide much safer means of fire safety and fire protection;
- d. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the subject Fridge-Freezer with a defective and inadequate crimping connection;
- e. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the subject Fridge-Freezer with a crimping connection which did not prevent the overheating of the crimping connection;
- f. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that was unreasonably dangerous to its intended and foreseeable users;
- g. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that was not safe for all of its intended and represented purposes;
- h. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which lacked all the necessary safety features to protect users of the Fridge-Freezer Model FF175BP;
- i. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and serious injuries caused by Model FF175BP Fridge-Freezers, failing to make all the necessary corrections to eliminate the risk of fire and prevent future fires and injuries;
- j. Despite having actual knowledge that Model FF175BP Fridge-Freezers manufactured in October, 2008, including the subject Fridge-Freezer, were susceptible to short circuiting and causing fires, failing to make all the necessary corrections, recalls, and/or safety notices to eliminate the risk of fire and prevent future fires, injuries, and deaths;
- k. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by Model FF175BP Fridge-Freezers, failing to adequately warn users that the Model FF175BP Fridge-Freezer was susceptible to causing fires;
- l. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by Model FF175BP Fridge-Freezers, failing to incorporate automatic shut-off devices or other safety devices in the Fridge-Freezers to ensure that fires would not result from electrical shorts, overheating or other causes;

- m. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the subject Fridge-Freezer with combustible and/or flammable components;
- n. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by Model FF175BP Fridge-Freezers, failing to design the subject fridge-freezer to avoid any unreasonable risk of harm to anyone who is likely to be exposed to the danger when the product is used in the intended manner or as foreseeably used;
- o. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by Model FF175BP Fridge-Freezers, failing to utilize alternative, feasible designs to avoid any unreasonable risk of harm to anyone who is likely to be exposed to the danger when the product is used in the intended manner or as foreseeably used;
- p. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which lacked all the necessary safety warnings and/or instructions regarding the possible risks of using the product that may be required;
- q. Failing to recall the defective and dangerous product after hazards and/or other dangerous incidents were discovered;
- r. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product the risks and hazards of which far outweigh any utility or benefit of the product (i.e. in violation of the risk utility test); and
- s. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product the risks or which were unknown or unknowable to the consumer (i.e. in violation of the consumer expectations test).

582. By conducting itself as set forth above, Defendant Whirlpool's acts and/or omissions were a substantial factor in, a factual cause of, and/or increased the risk of the fire that caused Plaintiffs' deaths and injuries.

583. The Whirlpool Fridge-Freezer was not equipped at the time it left Defendant's possession and control with every element necessary to make it safe for its reasonably foreseeable uses and reasonably foreseeable misuses.

584. Whirlpool knew that the plastic casing to the refrigerator made it unreasonably dangerous and flammable and therefore used metal casing on products sold in the United States.

585. By reason of the breach of duties—pursuant to § 402(A) of the Restatement of the Law of Torts (Second)—by Defendant Whirlpool, by and through their agents, servants, workmen, contractors, suppliers, distributors and/or employees as aforesaid, Plaintiffs and their decedents were caused to sustain serious and permanent disabling personal injuries resulting in her tragic death as set forth above.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs demand judgment in their favor and against Defendants Whirlpool, John Does (1-99), ABC Corporations (1-99) and XYZ Corporations (1-99) an amount in excess of the jurisdictional threshold in compensatory damages, punitive damages, delay damages, interest and allowable costs of suit and brings this action to recover same.

COUNT III – PRODUCTS LIABILITY

PLAINTIFF v. SAINT-GOBAIN CORPORATION d/b/a SAINT-GOBAIN NORTH AMERICA and/or d/b/a CELOTEX, JOHN DOES (1-99), ABC CORPORATIONS (1-99) and XYZ CORPORATIONS (1-99)

586. Plaintiff hereby incorporates by reference each and every allegation contained in the preceding paragraphs the same as though fully set forth herein.

587. Defendant Celotex, by and through their agents, servants, workers, contractors, designers, assemblers, manufacturers, sellers, subsidiaries, sister corporations, parent companies, successor corporations, predecessor corporations, suppliers and/or distributors, are strictly liable under § 402(A) of the Restatement (Second) of Torts and the Restatement (Third) of Torts: Product Liability because:

- a. Defendant is engaged in the business of designing, manufacturing, assembling, distributing, selling and/or supplying RS5000 Insulation;
- b. The RS5000 Insulation which caused the Grenfell Tower fire Plaintiffs' deaths and injuries was created, designed, marketed and placed in the general stream of commerce by Defendant Celotex;
- c. The RS5000 Insulation was expected to and did reach users without substantial change in the condition in which it was designed, manufactured, assembled, distributed and/or sold;

- d. The RS5000 Insulation was designed, manufactured, assembled, distributed and/or sold in the defective condition for the reasons set forth below.

588. Defendant Celotex, by and through their agents, servants, workers, contractors, designers, assemblers, manufacturers, sellers, suppliers and/or distributors, are strictly liable under § 402(A) of the Restatement of the Law of Torts (Second), by:

- a. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product in a defective condition;
- b. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that was unreasonably dangerous to its intended and foreseeable users;
- c. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product that was not safe for all of its intended and represented purposes;
- d. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which lacked all the necessary safety features to protect users of the RS5000 PIR Insulation;
- e. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by the highly flammable and combustible nature of the RS5000 PIR Insulation, failing to make all the necessary corrections to eliminate the risk of fire and/or combustion and prevent future fires and injuries;
- f. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by the highly flammable and combustible nature of the RS5000 PIR Insulation, failing to adequately warn users that the RS5000 PIR Insulation was highly flammable and combustible and susceptible to causing, accelerating and/or exacerbating fires;
- g. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by the highly flammable and combustible nature of the RS5000 PIR Insulation, failing to incorporate a flame retardant in the RS5000 PIR Insulation;
- h. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the RS5000 PIR Insulation with highly flammable and/or combustible components;
- i. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the RS5000 PIR Insulation under the intentionally false misrepresentation of the certificate of safety/fire resistance testing that Defendant Celotex purposely falsified;

- j. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by the highly flammable and combustible nature of the RS5000 PIR Insulation, failing to design the subject Insulation to avoid any unreasonable risk of harm to anyone who is likely to be exposed to the danger when the product is used in the intended manner or as foreseeably used;
- k. Despite having actual knowledge of prior fires, property damage and/or serious injuries caused by the highly flammable and combustible nature of the RS5000 PIR Insulation, failing to utilize alternative, feasible designs to avoid any unreasonable risk of harm to anyone who is likely to be exposed to the danger when the product is used in the intended manner or as foreseeably used;
- l. Despite knowing that its RS5000 PIR Insulation was dangerously defective and highly flammable and was therefore not suitable for use on the Grenfell Tower, Celotex knowingly supplied this dangerously defective product;
- m. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing the RS5000 PIR Insulation with absolutely no fire-retardant materials or components, despite knowing that a failure to include fire retardant materials or components rendered the product unreasonably dangerous;
- n. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which lacked all the necessary safety warnings and/or instructions regarding the possible risks of using the product that may be required;
- o. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which did not comply with all applicable NFPA requirements, including but not limited to NFPA 285;
- p. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which did not comply with all applicable IBC requirements and/or codes, including but not limited to IBC 1407 and 1408;
- q. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which did not comply with all applicable ADB 2013 regulations;

- r. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product which did not comply with all applicable Section B4(1) functional requirements;
- s. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product, the RS5000 PIR Insulation, which was known to release dangerous and toxic cyanide fumes if ignited;
- t. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product, the RS5000 PIR Insulation, which was known to release dangerous and toxic fumes if ignited, despite knowing that designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing such a product posed a significant and substantial risk of harm to the health and safety of the public and the residents of the Grenfell Tower;
- u. Failing to recall the defective and dangerous product after hazards and/or other dangerous incidents were discovered;
- v. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product the risks and hazards of which far outweigh any utility or benefit of the product (i.e. in violation of the risk utility test); and
- w. Designing, assembling, manufacturing, selling, supplying and/or distributing a product the risks or which were unknown or unknowable to the consumer (i.e. in violation of the consumer expectations test).

589. By conducting itself as set forth above, Celotex's acts and/or omissions were a substantial factor in, a factual cause of, and/or increased the risk of the fire that caused Plaintiffs' deaths and injuries.

590. The RS5000 PIR Insulation was not equipped at the time it left Defendants' possession and control with every element necessary to make it safe for its reasonably foreseeable uses and reasonably foreseeable misuses.

591. By reason of the breach of duties—pursuant to § 402(A) of the Restatement of the Law of Torts (Second)—by Defendant Celotex, by and through its agents, servants, workmen, contractors, suppliers, distributors and/or employees as aforesaid, Plaintiffs and their decedents were caused to sustain serious and permanent disabling personal injuries resulting in her tragic death as set forth above.

592. The safety of the public and the residents that would be exposed to the Celotex Defendant's RS5000 PIR Insulation must come first and be the paramount concern and consideration.

593. However, the Celotex Defendant knowingly exposed the public and the innocent residents of the Grenfell Tower to the imminent and unreasonable risk of injury and death.

594. Defendant Celotex unquestionably knew that its RS5000 PIR Insulation would be utilized on buildings above 40 feet tall and therefore had to include a fire-retardant material or component.

595. Failing to utilize a fire-retardant material or component in the RS5000 PIR Insulation presented an unreasonable risk of serious injury and/or death to the public and residents of buildings encased with the RS5000 insulation, including Plaintiff's decedent.

596. Defendant Celotex also knew that its RS5000 PIR Insulation would emit dangerous and toxic fumes when ignited.

597. Despite this aforementioned knowledge, the Celotex Defendant acted upon its corporate greed and knowingly failed to utilize a flame retardant material or component in its RS5000 PIR Insulation.

598. Defendant Celotex's outrageous and reckless decision to supply RS5000 PIR Insulation despite knowing that it was unfit, improper and unreasonably dangerous was orchestrated and controlled from Defendant Celotex's headquarters in Malvern, Pennsylvania, United States.

599. Upon information and belief, Celotex knowingly falsified and/or doctored the safety certification and safety testing for the RS5000 Insulation by adding a fire-retardant element and/or component to the RS5000 PIR Insulation sample that was used for safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing solely for the purpose of deceiving and/or falsifying the aforementioned testing and/or certification, while continuing to manufacture and sell the RS5000 PIR Insulation without the fire-retardant element.

600. Defendant Celotex unquestionably knew that adding a fire retardant element and/or component to the RS5000 PIR Insulation sample that was used for safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing solely for the purpose of deceiving and/or falsifying the aforementioned testing and/or certification presented an unreasonable and outrageous risk of severe injury and/or death to the public and residents of buildings encased with the RS5000 PIR Insulation, including Plaintiff's decedent.

601. Upon information and belief, Defendant Celotex's heinous decision to add a fire-retardant element and/or component to the RS5000 Insulation sample that was used for safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing solely for the purpose of deceiving and/or falsifying the aforementioned testing and/or certification was orchestrated, controlled, demanded, and/or overseen by Defendant Celotex's headquarters in Malvern, Pennsylvania, United States..

602. The decision to add a fire retardant element and/or component to the RS5000 PIR Insulation solely to deceive and/or falsify the safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing but sell its Insulation without said fire retardant element and/or component is obscenely outrageous, willful and wanton conduct that knowingly placed the health and safety of the members of the public and residents of the Grenfell Tower in jeopardy.

603. Defendant Celotex knew that the RS5000 PIR Insulation was unfit for the Tower.

604. Defendant Celotex made fraudulent misrepresentations of material fact regarding the safety certification, safety testing and/or fire testing of its RS5000, which Defendant Celotex intended the residents of the Grenfell Tower to rely upon.

605. Defendant Celotex made fraudulent misrepresentations of material fact regarding the safety and fitness of its RS5000 for use on the Grenfell Tower, which Defendant Celotex intended the residents of the Grenfell Tower, including Plaintiffs and Plaintiffs' decedents to rely upon.

606. The residents of the Grenfell Tower relied upon the aforementioned fraudulent misrepresentations of material fact made by Defendant Celotex.

607. The Grenfell Tower residents' reliance on the aforementioned fraudulent misrepresentations made by Defendant Celotex was a factual cause of the harm suffered by Plaintiff's decedent.

608. Defendant Celotex exhibited a willful and wanton disregard for the safety and health of the residents of the Grenfell Tower and the public in general.

609. By reason of Defendant Celotex's willful and wanton disregard for the safety and health of the residents of Grenfell Tower and the general public, Plaintiffs, and Plaintiffs' decedents, were caused to sustain serious and permanent disabling injuries resulting in their deaths and catastrophic injuries.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiffs demands judgment in their favor and against Defendants Saint-Gobain Corporation d/b/a Saint-Gobain North America and/or d/b/a Celotex, John Does (1-99), ABC Corporations (1-99) and XYZ Corporations (1-99) an amount in excess of the jurisdictional threshold in compensatory damages, punitive damages, delay damages, interest and allowable costs of suit and brings this action to recover same.
